Ancient and modern cycles go on show

MEMBERS of Bexhill Classic Cycle Group arrived in full Victorian and Edwardian costume at the Battle and Langton CE Primary School to talk and show their classic bikes.

John Hunnisett explained the difference between a historic bicycle and modern ones, followed by a question-and-answer session.

Ray Kony, the organiser of the Classic Cycle Group said: "We were amazed by the energy and enthusiasm displayed by the children and their stream of intelligent questions which showed a deep understanding of the environmental and health benefits of cycling and also a strong grasp of the mechanics."

The Bexhill Classic Cycle Group meets at 7pm every Tuesday in the car park adjoining the De La Warr Pavilion for a short cycle ride and social with The Bexhill Wheelers – except the last Tuesday of each month when they meet at The Mermaid Bar, The Sackville, De La Warr Parade. All are welcome to join in.
